Celebrating Nelson Mandela, NSPCA Patron-in-Chief

18 July 2024

What will YOU be doing for Mandela Day?

"If we do not do something to prevent it, Africa's animals, and the places in which they live, will be lost to our world, and her children, forever."
- Nelson Mandela

Tata Madiba's legacy lives on in the hearts of all South Africans. As the NSPCA's Patron-in-Chief, we continue to be inspired by his unwavering courage, unshakeable conviction, and boundless empathy.

We need YOUR help to end animal cruelty!

This Mandela Day (July 18th 2024), donate to the NSPCA to join our mission and support Madiba's call for a compassionate South Africa.

Liberated Lion Cubs, Saved From Squalor

Two lion cubs impounded by the Kloof & Highway SPCA have found their place of safety at an NSPCA Accredited Sanctuary. During the initial inspection of a Durban property, the residents denied owning any animals. The next moment, Kloof & Highway SPCA staff noticed two lion cubs in the driveway of the adjacent property.

Two NSPCA Inspectors, two weeks in Khowa and Nqanqarhu

The NSPCA recently embarked on a journey to improve the lives of animals and their owners in Khowa (formerly Elliot) and Nqanqarhu (formerly Maclear), Eastern Cape. Partnering with local veterinary clinics, the NSPCA conducted a vital sterilisation campaign to tackle the root causes of pet overpopulation. Despite logistical challenges, our dedicated Inspectors diligently navigated the absence of street names and house numbers, ensuring pets received essential care.
